Recarving China's Past:
Art, Archaeology, and Architecture of the "Wu Family Shrines"
Saturday and Sunday, April 30–May 1, 2005
Helm Auditorium, McCosh 50, Princeton University, Princeton, New Jersey

Organized by the Princeton University Art Museum in memory of Frederick W. Mote.

An international symposium exploring the architecture, art, and culture of China’s Han dynasty, 206 BCE–220 CE, in conjunction with the exhibition of the same title (March 5–June 26, 2005). Focusing on pictorial wall carvings commonly recognized as constituting Han-dynasty funerary structures of the Wu family cemetery, the symposium will raise significant questions about how the Wu shrines have been identified and understood by scholars in the past and how our understanding of Han art, architecture, history, and culture may require reevaluation.

Registration
There is no registration fee, but advanced registration for the symposium is required; please contact Andrea Stearly at Conference and Events Services, Princeton University, by telephone at (609) 258-1741, fax at (609) 258-4556, or e-mail at astearly@princeton.edu. Space is limited. Reservations will be accepted in the order they are received. To receive symposium materials at registration, please register by April 22. Late registration and walk-ins will be accepted, and symposium materials will be distributed as available.

Co-sponsored in part by the Chiang Ching-kuo Foundation for International Scholarly Exchange, the East Asian Studies Program and the P. Y. and Kinmay W. Tang Center for East Asian Art at Princeton University; with the support of the Asian Studies Center at the University of Pittsburgh, the History Department and the East Asian Library at the University of California at Berkeley.

The exhibition and catalogue were made possible by grants from the Getty, the E. Rhodes and Leona B. Carpenter Foundation, The Blakemore Foundation, The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, the National Endowment for the Arts, the Princeton University Art Museum Art and Apparatus Fund, the Friends and the Partners of the Princeton University Art Museum, and the Department of Art and Archaeology, Princeton University. The project also was supported by gifts from Lillian Schloss and several anonymous donors.
